Parent-Teacher Meets (PTMs) Organised

College life can present various challenges, from academic struggles to personal hardships. Parent-teacher meetings can enable parents and educators to identify and address these challenges holistically. Whether a student struggles with coursework, adjusting to campus life, or facing personal challenges, these meetings can be a platform for discussing appropriate remedies and support mechanisms. Hence, perceiving the importance of such type of meeting, the Department of Commerce, English and History organized three separate meetings.

The Department of Commerce orchestrated a harmonious synergy between parents and educators through a well-organized Parent-Teacher Meeting (PTM) held on April 1, 2024. The event, aimed at fortifying communication channels and fostering collaboration, witnessed enthusiastic participation from both parties. The PTM, a platform for open dialogue and constructive engagement, commenced with an inaugural address by the Head of the Department, underscoring the significance of parental involvement in a student's academic journey. The atmosphere was charged with anticipation as parents eagerly embraced the opportunity to connect with faculty members and gain insights into their child's progress. Individual discussions between parents and subject teachers formed the cornerstone of the meeting, enabling personalized attention and tailored guidance. Teachers offered comprehensive assessments of students' academic performance, highlighting achievements and areas necessitating focus. Parents reciprocated with valuable observations and queries, generating meaningful discourse geared towards enhancing student outcomes. "The PTM serves as a vital conduit for collaborative efforts between home and school," remarked Mrs. Sharma, a parent in attendance. "It's reassuring to witness the dedication of the faculty towards nurturing our children's potential." Teachers, committed to fostering a nurturing learning environment, promptly addressed concerns raised by parents, affirming the institution's unwavering commitment to student welfare. Discussions extended beyond academic realms, encompassing extracurricular pursuits and holistic development initiatives. Dr. Prapti Thakur, Principal of Sarupthar College, emphasized the pivotal role of parental engagement in nurturing well-rounded individuals. "The success of our students is a collective endeavor, and the PTM epitomizes our shared commitment towards their growth and success," she stated. The event concluded on a note of optimism, with both parents and teachers expressing gratitude for the enriching experience and reaffirming their dedication to students' holistic development. As Sarupthar College continues to champion collaborative partnerships and innovative approaches to education, the resounding success of the PTM underscores its unwavering commitment to excellence.
